

CDH Educates Workshop Series 2022

“If they don’t give you a seat at the table, bring in a folding chair”.

Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm

First African American Woman elected to Congress

Sharing Power with Volunteers

Leading, Growing, and Creating Inclusive Volunteer Programs workshop series

In part two of this three part series, we’ll build on the concepts of equity, diversity, and inclusion by exploring personal and professional power. You’ll understand the concepts of harnessing, holding, and giving power. We’ll also dive into sharing power, and where and how this is possible at all stages of the volunteer engagement cycle.

Presenter:

Tanya Hannah Rumble, CFRE

Tanya Hannah Rumble, a nonprofit sector leader who has raised millions for some of Canada's largest charities including Heart and Stroke Foundation, the Canadian Cancer Society, McMaster University and now Ryerson University. Tanya is passionate about equity, diversity and inclusion; and power and privilege and how these intersect with philanthropy. She is deeply engaged in transforming the philanthropic sector as a leadership volunteer in the sector, entrepreneur in the organizations where she works and governs, as a writer and speaker in the fundraising sector, and as a mentor.

Wednesday
July 6, 2022

12:30 pm - 2:00 pm

Delivered via Zoom

Registration at cdhalton.ca/events Please register by Monday July 4 @5pm

Fee: CDH Members: $15; Non-Members: $25

Zoom virtual meeting link will be sent to the email provided in the registration, one day before the event. Any questions? Call 1 (855) 395-8807 ext. 2 or email hejohnson@cdhalton.ca