

You are invited to participate in
Community Development Halton's

Possibilities Café

We need to hear your voice!

Over the years, Community Development Halton (CDH) has made outstanding contributions to the communities it serves by building capacity in the areas of volunteerism, research and data analysis, age-friendly initiatives, and neighbourhood development. The organization over the last several months has been evaluating its role in the community and exploring possible future directions for itself.

CDH wants to hear from you. Your voice and ideas are valuable to us as we extend a warm invitation to you and your organization to join in this exploration by participating in one of three Possibilities Café sessions. You will work with others, respond to critical questions and share your ideas for the role CDH could play in the community in future years.

The process will take only a morning and will be facilitated by Jody Orr from The Chrysalis Group, and Coordinator of the Halton Nonprofit Network. CDH staff and Board will not be present during the discussions but will receive a detailed report that will help shape the final decisions that CDH makes about which path it wishes to follow into the future.
