

How to Tell your Story Through Data

Wednesday
October 16, 2019
9:30 a.m. – 12:00 p.m.

Halton Regional Police Service
Georgetown - 11 Division
217 Guelph St, Georgetown

Participants are invited to bring some of their own organization data to this interactive workshop, as we work through the practical application of collecting and communicating data. No data? No problem! This workshop will provide you with the knowledge and resources to tell your story in an evidence-based format.

In this workshop the focus will be on:

- How to collect data
- How to interpret data
- Tools to communicate data

Presenter: TED HILDEBRANDT, Director of Social Planning at Community Development Halton. Ted oversees the acquisition and analysis of data, including the publications of Halton Social Profiles, Community Lens, and the Our Halton 2018 series. Ted also works with other nonprofit organizations addressing their specific issues such as diversity, poverty, and housing affordability.

Registration: cdhalton.ca/events
Fee: $50 Members; $60 Non-members
Contact for more information: 1-855-395-8807
or Rosemary at acoburn@cdhalton.ca

